The increasing abundance of the supply of money is stimulating speculation on the Stock Exchange after the recent depression. The market is, however, entirely in the hands of the brokers themselves, and, during the summer season especially, the upward movement is not are made at five per cent, but six is considered the general rate. The tendency is towards the former for all transactions on first class collaterals.

The gold market has been, on the whole, firm, not withstanding the improvement in American securities abroad. There was a shipment of $511,500 in specie by the China from Boston, which was not without its effect. The opening quotation was 137%, followed by a decline to 136%, after which there was a steady recovery to 137%, the closing price.

Foreign exchange is very firm, and bankers ask 110% in most cases for their sixty days bills, and 110%, but transactions are recorded at % less. Mercantile bills are extremely scarce, as the statistics of our trade would lead the reader to infer. The exports for the past week aggregated in value only $1,250,702, while the imports were valued at $3,590,539.

GRAND LODGE OF FREE AND ACCEPTED MASONS.-This o'clock, in the presence of a numerous assemblage of port, which showed that Masonry in this city was in a highly flourishing condition and that the utmost the Grand Master, an amendment to the constitution was adopted by which for every new candidate initiated the subordinate lodges must pay into the Grand Lodge three dollars and fifty cents, of this sum three dollars is to go to the hall and asylum fund. This movement it is calculated will give the latter project an increase of at least ten thousand dollars per annum.

M. W. Bro. Evans, former representative of the Grand Lodge of Virginia, near this grand body, reported that after a long interval he had been enabled to convey an official letter to the Grand Lodge that he represented but owing to the fact that that body would not meet till December he had not as yet received any official reply. The act of non-intercourse toward New York Masons, passed in 1880 by the Grand Lodge of Virginia, in consequence of her disapprobation of the manner in which the Union of 1858 was accomplished, was still in existence, but he hoped that by the next communication of the Grand Lodge to announce that Virginia had rescinded such action.

A desultory discussion then sprang up, participated in by Past Masters King and Lewis and Deputy Grand Master Holmes. The former suggested a retal atory enactment, the two latter suggesting that magnanimity should be shown a beaten sisten, and advising conciliatory measures. The matter was finally dropped. The election of Grand officers was fixed for ten o'clock this morning. The following brethren of distinction, visiting the Grand Lodge, were received with the Grand honors and seated in the cast:—M. W. Brother Pierson, R. W. Brother Albert G. Mackey, of South Carolina, and R. W. Brother Beecher, of Connecticut. The Grand Lodge was then calted from labor to refreshment, to resume labor at aime o'clock this morning.

seph Koronikolski, one of the leaders of the Poles in their last struggle for independence, arrived in this city their last struggle for independence, arrived in this city yesterday on a very benevolent mission. He is here for the purpose of raising subscriptions wherewith to pay the expense of bringing over to this country fifteen or twenty thousand of the noble patriots now exiled from their native country and seeking shelter in every part of Europe. Mr. Koronikolski proposes to establish a Polish colony in this country, and intends to apply at the next sees on of Congress for a grant of land in some suitable locality for the settlement of emigrants. The governments of France and Switzerland have contributed large sums towards the passage of these Poles to this country, and many private individuals have already subscribed very liberally to the object. Subscriptions may be sent to the Mayor's office at the City Hall.

ARREST OF ALLEGED PICKPOCKETS-A GENTLEMAN

Yesterday afternoon, about two o'clock, Mr. John A. Dougan, doing business at 102 Nassau street, was standat his vest pocket, where he carried his gold watch, valued at $200, and looking down saw that his timepiece was gone. He instantly grabbed a man, giving his name as Thomas Kerrigan, who stood beside him, whereupon an alleged accomplice (Willam Davis) attempted to create a serious disturbance with the view of releasing Kerrigan. He succeeded in effecting the escape of Kerrigan, but Mr. Dougan pursued and rearrested him. Davis was also secured, after which the prisoners were searched by officer Coakley, of the Fourth precinct, but the stolen watch could not be found. It was probably passed to a third accomplice, who fled with it. The accused parties were taken before Justice Dowling and committed the Tombs for examination. Mr. Dougan, who made an affidavit in the case, feels quite positive that Kerrigan stole his watch, and regards Davis as an accomplice.

the New Jersey Railroad and Transportation Company.

The annual election of directors for the New Jersey Railroad and Transportation Company, took place yesterday at eleven A. M., at the office of the corporation, in Jersey City. The stockholders were well tepresented and the proceedings characterized by the utmost harmony and good feeling. The first business transacted was that of organization, which resulted in the selection of Hon. Joseph D. Randolph as chairman, Messrs. John P. Moore, of New York, and Wm. Edgar, of Rahway, vice presi

W. D. Chetwood, of Elizabeth, secretaries.

The report of the directors, for 1864, was then read by Mr. Southmayd. It was accepted.

This was followed by the reading of the report of the directors for the last year also, by Mr. Jackson. From this document we learn that the capital stock of the company remains the same as for the previous year; the funded debt was reduced $7,500, and a floating debt of $145,000 was incurred. An additional track from New Brunswick to the junction with the Camden and Amboy Raifroad, a distance of three and one-third miles has been laid, completing the double track over the road, and bridges for the whole length of the line, except at the Passaic bridge crossing in Newark. New car shops have been erected at Jersey City to replace those destroyed by fire at East Newark. An engine house, capable of containing twenty-four engines, has also been erected at Jersey City. Nine first class locomotives have been purchased and added to the equipment, and eighteen superior passenger cars ordered, of which twelve were contracted for with builders in Jersey City and Philadelpha, and six to be built in the company's shop. It is contemplated to build a fireproof bridge over the Raritan river at New Brunswick, and to make other permanent improvements on the line of the road. These expenditures have consumed the net proceeds of the road and $145,000 added, which constitutes the floating debt. To provide for contingencies the capital stock has been increased to $6,000,000. For this purpose, and for the payment of the floating debt, bonds of the company bearing six per cent interest have been issued, having ten years to run.

The receipts of the road show an increase over those of 1863, as follows:—

From passengers. $240,164. 52

From freight. $2,633. 21

And a decrease from miscellaneous sources of 15,841 15

The expenditures increased for the same period as follows:—

Maintenance of road, bridges and buildings... $47,840.04 pany remains the same as for the previous year; the
